The dispensers of poslam, a new skin discovery, ask that notice be given that no one is briged to purchase it without first obtaining an experimental package. Every one who has tried it knows that the fifty-cent box, on sale at Tragle's and all drug stores, is suifficient to cure the worst cases of cozama, where the surface affected is not too large. The liching ceases on first application. It will also cure acne, tetter, blotches, scaly scalp, hives, barbers and every other form of itch, including itching feet. Heing flesh-coinced and containing no grease, the presence of poslam on exposed surfaces, such as the face and hands, is not perceptible. Water and song cannot be used in connection with it, as these irritate and prolong skin troubles, sometimes even causing them. As to the experimental package of poslam, it can be had free of charge by mail of the Einergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth, Street, New York, it alone is sufficient to clear the complexion overnight, and to rid the face of pimples in twenty-four hours.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 4.—The first stop in the fight of tobacco growers against the new pooling pleage of President Lebus and the Burley Tobacco Society was and the Burley Tobacco Society was and the Burley Tobacco Society was and the Equity Society. Was organized.

A mass meeting of growers is in session and delegates are in attendance from all the five Ohio counties adjacent to Hamilton county and from nearby counties in Kenlucky.

Dr. McMillan, of Pendleton county, Ky., and C. O. Brayton, president of the Equity Society, are central figures in the meeting.

The opposition to the Lebus movement for pooling the burley tobacco crop of the present year centers against his plan for ten per cent, retention and stock certificates. President Brayton denied there is a fight against the Burley Society, but significantly adds:

""" are organizing as a coalition to sell out tobacco."

as it may seem, we have sold more fine goods these last few months than ever before—in fact, our trade in cheap furniture has fallen off. This plainly shows that our people learned during the last panic that it did not pay to buy cheap furniture, fake antiques, etc., because they neither lasted nor looked good, more especially in a new home. What woman in the city of Richmond would think for once of buying a handsome new dress and wearing with it a last year's hat or one bought at some bargain sale?

The first fall month opened up well with the Richmond jobbers. In the first place, they found right at hand a larger number of visiting buyers than usual, and during the week just than usual, and during the week just closed many sales were made direct. This bustness right in hand was not confined to any one line. When the visitor comes to Richmond to buy goods he is not long in finding out that he need not go any further, for he can find, here any and all things he needs for his large or small retail store. To illustrate, one who came here last week just to buy shoes, and intending to go northward for his othintending to go northward for his other requirements, learned before the shoe men got through with him that all the dry goods and millinery, and of the secretary of the association that 1,000 or more persons attended the convention.

This order relieved a most embarrassing situation. Yesterday an appeal was made to the commission by Ira B. Mills, chairman of the railroad and warehouse commission at St. Pahl, for the relief of a large number of persons in attendance upon the letter-carriers meeting, whose return tickets to their homes were not good, hecause not a sufficient number had obtained the validation of their transportation.

BATTLE WITH PHYSICIANS

Crazed by Pain, Negro Runs Amuck in Hospital.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Crazed by pains and with part of his brain torn out by a builet he had sent through his head with suicidal intent, William Stockett, a powerful negro, 35 years old, ran amuck in Casualty hospital early to-day and battled with physicians.

The negro had previously been disarmed, and the injuries suffered by his would-be captors were slight. After holding the terror-stricken attendants at bay until nearly exhausted, the negro was subdued and placed in a straight-jacket. Soon afterward when believed to be steeping, the man rushed from his ward, tearing the straight-jacket from his body as he charged the attendants. After another severe struggle he was again overnowered.

intending to go northward for his other requirements, learned before the shoe men got through with him that all the dry goods and millinery, and notions and hardware and drugs and grocerles and hats he wanted were right here. He came to buy something like $1,000 worth of stuff, but he found it to his advantage to leave about five times that amount in Richmond.

The shoe men and the dry goods men have been kept rather busy starting out depositors. Yesterday he said he stood and was deeply impressed with the large number of officials and clerks as compared with twenty years ago, and the steady stream of depositive cases to book spring orders, and it is likely that not less than 200 Richmond travelers commenced to "hit the grit" the past week.

Mr. Archer, who engineered the shipment, and who made the corn, tells The Times-Dispatch that the field from which the sample was taken is perfect throughout, and he made an engagement with the photographic artists to visit the farm, not more than two miles up the James from Richmond, to picture the cheering scene for the information of The Times-Dispatch readers. This excursion will be made one day this week, and pictures that will prove the truth of overy assertion here made will be produced.

In the meantime if there are any "Doubting Thomases" who think corn like that described above cannot be ruised on the banks of the upper James they have only to come to the Main Street office of The Times-Dispatch and see for themselves.
